

Lorton House's Gin Connoisseur

Ros Nelmes

Evening workshop

Visitors to Lorton House are able to enjoy an evening being educated and entertained by Ros Nelmes, the founder of Fordington Gin, the distilled alcoholic drink that derives its flavour from juniper berries.

She will talk about the history of Gin and during the evening you will be able to taste different flavours Fordington have made and also experiment by making your own cocktails! The evening promised to be a truly unique experience, another reason for you to remember your stay at Lorton House.

Ros is passionate about the range of gins they produce locally, the majority of the ingredients Fordington use are found in their grounds close to nearby Dorchester. Ros is proud they are regular winners of awards. In 2020 they won Gold at The Taste of the West they also achieved a Gold at the International Women's Wine and Spirits Award.

Understandably, there was every reason why the owners of Lorton House chose them to have their own gin chose them to label their own range of Lorton Gins.

Ros visits Lorton House from 6.00pm 9.00pm Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, naturally it is highly important you book your evenings experience well in advance of your visit.
